

Cycling with the whole family - child's play with the parent-child tandem-coupling

FOLLOW ME

Cycle individually, or be towed...

... is the FollowMe motto.

You have the possibility of both safely towing your child through road traffic, or letting it cycle individually away from dangerous traffic.

If your child is tired, simply couple up its cycle.

In this way, when necessary you can travel quickly and your child will become accustomed to cycling and road traffic.

Installation

You pre-prepare both the parent's and child's cycles once only, by installing the hubs and supports.

For the adult's cycle, this comprises quick-release skewers or spindle adapters, and for the child's cycle a clamp on the down tube. The clamp fits all types of tube. Afterwards, with the FollowMe coupling you can firmly connect the child's cycle to the adult's cycle in no time and without tools. Neither a child's trailer coupling nor a cycle stand obstructs FollowMe.

Stow away FollowMe

After use and when a child is not being towed, fold up FollowMe and attach it to the carrier or saddle with the carabiner fastener.

For cycling without children, the complete FollowMe coupling can be removed from the parent's cycle in no time.

The advantages of FollowMe

Cycling together

With FollowMe, you can transport a second child's seat or your shopping on a carrier.

Quickly coupled

You can couple your child's cycle in no time and without tools or additional parts in a few short moves.

Safe and stable

The two-point support at hub level ensures safety, ride comfort, and stability because there is no leverage as with conventional supports attached to the saddle tube.

Small picture: Unstable and dangerous attachment at only one point on the saddle tube.

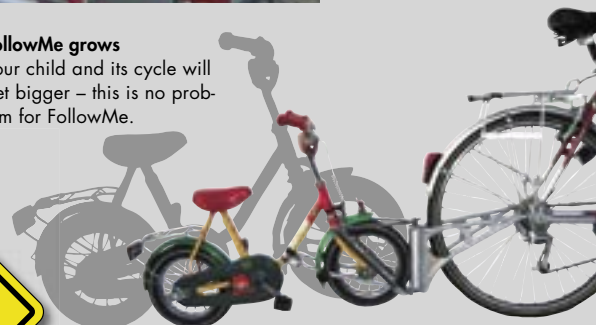

Space saving

FollowMe can be quickly and compactly stowed away in a car, in a cycle room, or on a train.

FollowMe grows

Your child and its cycle will get bigger - this is no problem for FollowMe.
